By BARRY KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong was booed and hooted for 10 minutes in South Vietnam's lower house today. A source close to the premier said the demonstration was part of an organized right-wing effort to unseat the government.

The House of Representatives, egged on by a bloc of Roman Catholic legislators, erupted after Huong said the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front at one time contained non-Communist nationalist elements. When the uproar died down, Huong said the NLF is now entirely Communist controlled and that non-Communist elements have been liquidated.

"There is a campaign against the government," said a source close to the premier.

He would not specify who is leading the campaign, but there was immediate suspicion of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, a native of North Vietnam who opposed President Nguyen Van Thieu's appointment of Huong to replace Premier Nguyen Van Loc, a Ky man. Ky is also identified with the more militant right-wing segments of Vietnamese political life who oppose any talk of negotiations with the Communists.

Huong and other officials appeared in the lower house to discuss ways of increasing security in and around Saigon.

Huong had begun to talk about nationalist elements who opposed the French in colonial days and opponents of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem who he said had helped form the NLF. "I know they were all nationalists," he said.

Legislators then started booing the 67-year-old premier and banging on their desks to drown him out.

CLYDE FOUSE

Rotary Club President Clyde Fouse gave a summation of the year's activities in the club and expressed appreciation to everyone who had contributed in any way to their success, when the weekly luncheon meeting was held at the Town and Country last Friday.

When Luther Hodges was Rotary International President, he emphasized, "Let Our Rotary Membership Be Effective," and that was the theme used, locally, this past year, President Fouse explained. In speaking of the immediate future, he pointed out the numerous changes taking place in our area and said they could be handled effectively through the wise use of brain power, economics, and religion.

Representative Talbot Feild, Jr. will be the guest speaker on June 28.

Accidents in Arkansas Claim Seven

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Seven persons were killed in Arkansas highway accidents between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, an Associated Press count showed today.

Jack Waller, 44, of Hazen was killed Saturday when he touched a live wire while attempting to move it from the path of a house being towed on a truck in the city.

Bertha Welch, 56, and her 10-year-old granddaughter, Darlene Welch, both of West Memphis, were killed Saturday in a two-car collision at Crawfordsville.

Floyd Hall, 8, of the Moscow community in Jefferson County was killed Saturday when he was struck by a car on U.S. 65 about 11 miles south of Pine Bluff.

Kenneth M. Sims, 16, son of Mrs. Rosie Lee Sims of Stuttgart, was killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding left Arkansas 33 about 1.5 miles north of the junction of Arkansas 146.

D. L. May, 57, of Greenbrier was killed Saturday in a two-vehicle collision two miles north of Greenbrier on U.S. 65.

George King, 68, of Forrest City, was killed Friday night when his car left Arkansas 103 north of Green Forest and overturned several times.

189 Deaths by Guns in One Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gunfire killed 189 persons in the United States, a week-long survey by The Associated Press shows, and most of the deaths were homicides. The survey, ended at midnight Sunday, was taken during the same week President Johnson signed an anti-crime bill containing gun-control provisions.

The shooting deaths included 109 homicides, 64 suicides and 16 accidents.

In 1967, the last year for which FBI figures are available, there was an average of 125 homicides a week.

Demands for tighter gun-control measures were made after the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—all killed by guns.

Proponents of gun control blame loose traffic in firearms for thousands of deaths each year.

President Johnson signed an omnibus anti-crime bill last Wednesday, which contained a gun-control section. More stringent laws on gun control are being considered by Congress.

Two of the provisions in the crime bill:

— Prohibit interstate mail-order sales of handguns and also their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state and to people under 21.

— Make illegal the possession of any firearms by felons, mental incompetents, aliens illegally in the country, Americans who have renounced their citizenship and veterans who receive other than an honorable discharge.

A measure pending before Congress and sponsored by the President would ban mail-order sales of all firearms, including rifles and shotguns.

The AP survey, begun midnight Sunday, June 16, showed gunfire in Texas claimed 20 lives, the greatest number of any state, homicides there accounted for 14 deaths, almost double the next highest states—Illinois, 16, California, 13, Michigan and Ohio, 10.

Illinois had the most suicide shootings, 7, and Tennessee and Georgia the greatest number of accidental shooting deaths, 3.

Four homicides occurred Saturday night in Chicago—one of which police commented was "just one of those circumstances where a gun is too readily available."

In Phuoc Long Province, next to the Cambodian border 75 miles north of Saigon.

Saigon was spared of any shelling for the third consecutive day today, but the Viet Cong shelled two airfields, a province capital and four government military posts.

Government headquarters said the shelling killed two government soldiers and wounded six soldiers and 15 Vietnamese civilians.

It was the quietest night in two months in the capital and almost everywhere else in the country. U.S. sources said the enemy likely may be "laying back" to receive replacements, retrain, refit and resupply for fresh attacks.

Hanoi Radio rejected a U.S. appeal for a halt to the shelling of Saigon saying North Vietnam is "ready to fight the U.S. aggressors anywhere in Vietnam."

The broadcast also said the moved into Ft. Chaffee Saturday to start two weeks of training.

The brigade, which is commanded by Brig. Gen. Dan Walker of Pine Bluff, will spend the first week in the barracks area, and move to the field for bivouac during the second week.

Guards Move in on Ft. Chaffee

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — Some 4,000 National Guardsmen from 45 Arkansas brigades, members of the 39th Brigade of the Arkansas Army National Guard, moved into Ft. Chaffee Saturday to start two weeks of training.

The brigade, which is commanded by Brig. Gen. Dan Walker of Pine Bluff, will spend the first week in the barracks area, and move to the field for bivouac during the second week.

U.S. pilots flew 127 missions against the panhandle Sunday through heavy antiaircraft fire.

Mutt Jones Comes Out for Clyde Byrd

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Clyde Byrd says too much importance has been placed on the money-making aspects of Cummins and Tucker prison farms.

Byrd, on a television program Sunday, declared that the importance of the revenue "pales to insignificance" when one thinks of the primary job of a prison—to first be a correctional institution.

Byrd made his remarks on "Face the State," shown on KTHV (Channel 11) in Little Rock.

Byrd also said the prisons needed a trained penologist and that there should be increased mechanization of the two farms.

The former state senator also said he opposed using turnback funds to establish an association of Arkansas counties. Byrd said he didn't oppose the idea of creating such an organization but that he opposed using tax monies to finance it.

Byrd's candidacy received the endorsement Sunday of state Sen. Guy "Mutt" Jones of Conway who said Byrd would win the nomination and defeat the incumbent Republican administration in November.

Byrd said he was "delighted" to have Jones' support and added, "I want all the help I can possibly get."

Jones called a news conference to announce his endorsement and said he wasn't supporting Mrs. Virginia Johnson for governor or Jim Johnson for the U.S. Senate.

—have expressed need for food. A recent case in which a 19-year-old mother of three owned a single bottle and nipple to feed her two youngest was cited by Graves. The family was discovered by the multi-service unit workers and the 4-month-old baby was diagnosed as a case of "severe malnutrition," he said.

County Welfare Director Charles Richardson said cases of hungry families in Mississippi County were possible, but added that most of the needy received food stamps through the state Department of Welfare in cooperation with the federal government.

Neither Richardson nor Graves were contacted by those conducting the survey, they said. The information was allegedly compiled by a privately-financed board of inquiry chaired by Leslie W. Dunbar of the Field Foundation.

Mrs. Malba Carpenter, welfare director of Crittenden County, said, "If I knew anybody in this county was hungry, I'd certainly go out and make an investigation and see that they get food."

She and Lee County Welfare Director Ronald Sandstead said they were not asked for any information used in the report. "There is no question but what malnutrition exists," Sandstead said, noting that welfare workers have no control over the types of food the recipients purchase with their food stamps.

"As far as I know, no one is starving to death," said James Gunn, director of Stone County Welfare. He said he has only one Negro client on the welfare rolls.

Man Has to Defend the New Styles

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Red and green plaid slacks by Bill Blass, long-haired velvet Napoleon suits by Oleg Cassini or bright yellow blanket coats by John Weitz are not for sissies.

A man must be big and brave to defend himself. This idea seemed foremost in the minds of these three well-known American designers, who have been as busy creating men's wear lately as women's fashions.

They presented a show Sunday for more than 300 fashion writers attending the opening session of the American Design Series of fall style previews.

Blass said his clothes are for "a man who's not afraid of himself, his reflection in the mirror, the unsolicited opinions of his friends."

There followed a parade of gentlemen in red velvet pants, Windsor cane suits, racoon maxi coats that double as bedspreads, dark shirts, plaid-like ties, tartan evening jackets with matching pants, pongee silk shirts, as a few examples of clothes that might elicit opinions.

Shirts, plain and fancy, were deep shades of blues, pinks and yellows. They were made of Sea Island cottons, Indian paisleys and poplins.

The big guy is designer Weitz's ideal. "Away with the sad, scrawny half-man," said the tall, brawny designer who himself is brave enough to wear a bright yellow shirt and fireman red necktie.

"All ties of the white variety are wild and 5 1/2 inches wide—the battle flag of executives," he said.

Cassini called his collection the great stand against the anonymous look. It was for a man in the mood to revolt. Nehru hats to accompany Nehru jackets were Cassini's revolt

Tracewski's Homer Wins for Tigers

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
There was the faintest sign of a crack showing in Detroit's armor but Dick Tracewski's annual home run sealed it right up.

The Tigers had dropped three straight to Cleveland and another loss to the challenging Indians could have meant real trouble for the American League leaders.

So Manager Mayo Smith, taking no chances, went to his secret weapon, starting Tracewski in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader. The veteran infielder produced a three-run homer that carried the Tigers to a 4-1 victory after Luis Tiant had blanked them 3-0 in the first game.

In other American League action Sunday, Minnesota dropped New York 6-3, Oakland whacked Washington 9-0, California shaded Baltimore 3-2 and Boston split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the first game 6-2 but dropping the rain-delayed nightcap 10-1.

In the National League, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Chicago 9-8 and 4-3 in 11 innings, Atlanta split with St. Louis, winning 5-1 before losing 3-1, Houston took Philadelphia 7-4, New York shaded Los Angeles 5-4 and San Francisco dropped Pittsburgh 2-1.

Tracewski has hit one home run in five of his six major league seasons, missing only in 1966 when he was traded by the Los Angeles Dodgers to the Tigers. Blame that lapse on the adjustment to a new league.

The little infielder rocked Sam McDowell for his annual puke Sunday after a walk to Ray Oyler and a two-out error by Larry Brown set the stage in the fifth inning.

That was enough of a cushion for Joe Sparrano and the victory kept Detroit's American League lead at 6½ games.

Tiant pitched a three-hitter in the opener, striking out nine and the Indians gave him a quick edge with a three-run first inning.

Max Alvis opened with a walk and singles by Brown and Jose Cardenal put Cleveland in front. Then Joe Azcue's double drove in two more runs.

Ted Uhlaender smacked five straight hits, scoring two runs and driving in another, as the Twins rocked the Yankees.

Jim Merritt scattered seven hits including homers by Andy Kosco and Horace Clarke and won his fifth game.

Jim Fregosi opened the ninth inning with his fifth home run of the year, beating Baltimore for California.

Until Fregosi connected, Vic Davalillo had done most of the Angel damage, driving in two runs with a double and triple.

Don Buford homered for Baltimore.

Jim Nash pitched a four-hitter and the Athletics jumped on Washington's Bruce Howard for six runs in the first inning and coasted past the Senators.

Oakland sent 11 men to the plate and collected seven hits — six of them in a row — battering Howard in the first. Mike Hershberger's two-run double keyed the rally.

The Senators, who dropped their 10th game in the last 11, saved some face and perhaps some runs by executing the American League's second triple play in the third inning.

Pete Ward drove in five runs — three of them with a home run — and Chicago romped past Boston in the second game after Garry Bell's pitching and hitting had given the Red Sox the first game victory.

Jim Lonborg, making his second start, hit two batters and lasted for only five pitches in the second game before retiring with a sore arm.

Lee Stange relieved Lonborg and Ward's base-loaded single highlighted a four-run first. Ward later added a three-run homer and Duane Josephson also homered.

Bell hurled a six-hitter and drove in two runs with a double and a single in the opener. Ken Berry homered for Chicago.

Ramos Plans to Shoot the Works Early

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Manuel Ramos, a 4-1 underdog, is expected to shoot the works early in a desperate attempt to dethrone five-state heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in a 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

"It only takes one punch to turn a fight around," said Gil Clancy. "Ramos can punch pretty good but he better get Frazier quick because the champ keeps coming at you. If Ramos can nail him everyone may be in for a surprise."

Clancy, co-manager and trainer of former middleweight champion Emile Griffith, worked with the tall, 24-year-old Mexican champion for a week.

He will be in his corner tonight. The general opinion of the experts was that the 6-foot-3 Ramos' only chance to win was to get in the big bomb quickly. The unbeaten 24-year-old Frazier has been floored only three times in his career, all in the second round.

Frazier's record is 20-0, including 18 knockouts. Ramos' record is 20-6.

Mike Bruce put him down in the second before he was stopped in the third round. Oscar Bonavena decked Frazier twice in the second round but Frazier came on town the 10-round decision.

Frazier's record is 20-0, including 18 knockouts. Ramos' record is 20-6, including 16 knockouts. He has won 15 straight, 12 of them by knockouts and nine of them in three rounds or less. Ramos never has been floored or stopped. His face is unmarked.

Frazier, as usual, won't be hard to find.

"I'm coming out smoking, like I always do," he said. "I hope it ends right after the bell sounds."

"I know he'll be coming and I'll be ready," said Ramos. "He can punch but so can I. I didn't come here to lose."

The bout will be telecast coast to coast, but New York and a 90-mile area round the city will be blacked out of the telecast. Starting time is 9:30 p.m., EDT.

Frazier is recognized as world champion by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts and Maine.

A Rare Feat for Miss Post If It Works

By DAVE OHARA

Associated Press Sports Writer
SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Sandra Post attempted a rare feat today in meeting defending champion Kathy Whitworth in an 18-hole playoff for the Ladies' PGA title at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Miss Post, who turned 20 just two weeks ago, had a chance to double her money earnings in her first year on the pro golf tour as she teed off against a veteran, who set a record by winning more than $44,000 in 1967.

Sandy, a resident of Oakville, Ont., a small town near Toronto, sought to become the first foreign player to win the LLGA Championship and also break a long standing hex on rookies.

A first-year player has not won an LPGA tournament since Judy Kimball captured the American Women's Classic at Minneapolis in 1961.

Miss Whitworth, a 29-year-old Texan, attempted to join Mickey Wright as the only player to win the LPGA Championship more than once. Miss Wright, a four-time winner, finished 10th with an 11-over-par 72-hole total of 303 Sunday.

Miss Post, laughing off pressure before a record crowd of 15,000, and Miss Whitworth matched par 73s in the fourth round to finish deadlocked with 294s.

Germany's Gerda Whalen had a 72 for 295 and third money of $1,800.

Hope Golfer 4th in State Tournament

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Tommy Stobaugh of Pine Bluff continues his domination of the Arkansas State Men's Amateur Golf championship by winning his third title in four years.

However, his latest surge to the top came the hard way.

Stobaugh, who entered the final round of the 72-hole tournament over the par 72 Texarkana Country Club Course, needed a birdie on the final hole to overtake the rallying Tom Raney of Little Rock to win the title by one shot in the finals Sunday.

Raney had chopped away at Stobaugh's lead throughout his final round only to blow his title chances on the 72nd hole when he shanked his approach shot to the green and took a bogey 5.

Stobaugh had a closing round 77 for a 291 total while Raney fired a 73 but had a 292 total. Jim Balch of Little Rock, last year's runner-up to Stobaugh, finished third with a 296 after firing a 76 Sunday.

Results of the championship flight:

291—Tommy Stobaugh, Pine Bluff, 72-71-71-77.
292—Tom Raney, Little Rock, 74-69-76-73.
296—Jim Balch, Little Rock, 73-73-75-75.

297—John Graves, Hope, 73-73-67-75; Thomas McNair, Fayetteville, 74-75-74-74.
¼ & — Steve Creekmore Jr., Fort Smith, 70-76-79-73.

299—Les Abernathy, Texarkana, 73-73-75-78.

Dark Mirage
Is a Very Easy Winner

By ED SCHUYLER JR.,
Associated Press Sports Writer
The queen is small and trim and well-behaved. And she is fast—very fast.

Her highness of the 3-year-old filly is Dark Mirage, and the crown she wears has never been worn before.

It is the Triple Crown for fillies, which Dark Mirage claimed Saturday by easily winning the $116,250, 1¼-mile Coaching Club American Oaks in the stakes-record time of 2:01 4-5.

While Dark Mirage was smashing her opposition at Belmont Park, Exclusive Native was upsetting his at Arlington Park. Louis E. Wolfson's 3-year-old won the one-mile, $108,000 Arlington Classic by three-quarters of a length over favored Iron Ruler.

Lloyd I. Miller's Dark Mirage, all 710 pounds of her, won the Coaching Club American Oaks just as easily as she did the Acorn and the Mother Goose, the first two Triple Crown events. The three races were designated as the Triple Crown by the New York Racing Association in 1961 and no horse had ever won all three before Dark Mirage.

In the Oaks, Manny Ycaza had Dark Mirage in front by three lengths after a mile, and she zoomed home by 12 lengths over Gay Matelda for her seventh consecutive victory this year, the last six of them stakes.

Exclusive Native, Ismael Valenzuela up, caught Iron Ruler in the final yards to win in 1:36 for his first victory in three starts this year.

Oergor took over turning for home and won the 1¼-mile Queen's Plate for Canadian-bred 3-year-olds at Woodbine in Toronto. Big Blunder finished second.

Lonborg's Hopes Some Dimmer Now

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg's hopes for a pitching comeback with the Boston Red Sox were a bit dimmer today as he prepared to undergo X-rays of his sore right shoulder.

The 1967 Cy Young award winner threw five bad pitches—all balls—to lead off Sunday's second game against the Chicago White Sox, hitting two batters, before leaving the mound.

3 Americans in Path of Rod Laver

By GEOFFREY MILLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Three American tennis stars, all ranked in the top 10, stood in the path of Australian pro Rod Laver as he started his bid for the first open Wimbledon title today.

Laver, top seeded, had to play Eugene Scott of New York City, ranked No. 9 in the American list, in the first round on the No. 1 court.

If Laver wins, he probably will find himself facing two more U.S. stars later in the week—Stan Smith, ranked 7th, from Pasadena, Calif., in the second round, and Marty Riessen, No. 5, from Evanston, Ill., in the third.

It's six years since the great Australian left-hander last won Wimbledon. Now the change to open tennis has brought him back into the world's most famous tennis arena.

The six pros controlled by American promoter George MacCall—Laver, Ken Rosewall, Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle of Australia, Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles and Andres Gimeno of Spain—are entered in the men's singles.

So are Lamar Hunt's Hand-some Eight troupe-defending champion John Newcombe and Tony Roche of Australia, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.

Memphis Is Chopping the Traveler Lead

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Memphis Blues continued to chop away at Arkansas' lead in the Eastern Division of the Texas League Sunday by trimming the Travelers 4-2 behind the steady hurling of Rickard Folk-ers.

The Blues captured four games in the six-game series and cut Arkansas' division lead to two games.

Folkers, who tossed a one-hitter at the Travelers in the series opener, wilted under the heavy humidity in the eighth inning but Dennis Musgraves came on and retired the last five Arkansas batters in order.

Jack Tracy's two-run double highlighted a three-run third inning uprising by the Blues and gave Folkers all the help he needed.

Arkansas scored in the second on a double by Mike Christino and again in the eighth when Boots Day stroked a double.

In other Texas League action Sunday Shreveport beat Dallas-Fort Worth 9-2. Albuquerque stopped El Paso 8-4 and Amarillo swept a doubleheader from San Antonio 6-5 and 7-0.

Aleindor to Be Back With Bruins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Aleindor, the giant UCLA center, says he'll be back with the Bruins for his senior year instead of becoming an instant millionaire in professional basketball.

"I'm looking forward to next season—and I'm still optimistic about our chances," remarked Aleindor, who has led UCLA to two consecutive national collegiate titles.

Before leaving for New York for summer vacation, Aleindor told a newsman he's bothered by rumors that he might quit college basketball immediately, perhaps to sign a $1 million contract with the Harlem Globetrotters.

"The NCAA is going to begin wondering, 'Who's he talking to now?' or 'What does he have up his sleeve?' They could make it rough on me—and I don't want that," he said.

"I want to play my remaining year of college," Aleindor conceded he's talked to important professionals in the game—but only socially. He's a friend of Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain and Boston's Bill Russell, for instance.

Aleindor's summer will be spent working with underprivileged children in New York.

Golfers Observe Longest Day

NAWILIWILI, Kaula, Hawaii (AP) — Three golf enthusiasts played 100 holes each Saturday at the Kaula Surf Resort course to observe the longest day of the year.

One, Honolulu Star-Bulletin columnist Jim Becker, said, "No useful purpose was served, but we had fun."

The other two were Bob Herkes, vice president of Inter-Island Resorts, and club pro Bill Schwallie.

They played the nine hole course 11 times—with one extra hole—and completed the marathon in 12 hours and 5 minutes.

Canadian Liberals Favored

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer
TORONTO (AP) — On the eve of Canada's national election, the key appears to be Trudeau's mania.

Public opinion polls and newspaper surveys across the country say the Liberal party of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau is headed for a clear-cut victory largely due to the personality of Trudeau.

Unless there is a last-minute upset, Canada will return to a majority government for the first time since 1962. Several surveys give the Liberals more than 150 of the 264 seats in Parliament, or 17 more than needed for a majority.

In the 1965 election the Liberals, under Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, fell three votes short of a majority, but Pearson was able to carry on with a minority government until he resigned on April 20 to turn the government over to Trudeau.

Trudeau dissolved Parliament on April 23 and called for the new election.

Although the 48-year-old Trudeau and the Conservative leader, Robert Stanfield, 53, were both new to the national political scene in Canada, it was Trudeau who drew the big crowds across the country and stirred the younger set to near-riot fervor.

Tuesday's election will be Canada's sixth in 11 years and it will be the first since 1958 which was not contested between the two veterans, Conservative John Diefenbaker and Pearson.

Stanfield was chosen Conservative leader last September. He was formerly premier of Nova Scotia.

Stanfield was winding up his campaign with a full day in popular Ontario province. He will go to his home province for election day. Trudeau planned to spend most of the final day in his home province of Quebec, where he is carrying on a sharp fight with the separatists.

Special security precautions have been ordered as a result of separatist threats to appear in force to heckle the prime minister. Trudeau already had been given added protection after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles three weeks ago.

The expectations for a Trudeau victory are based partly on the latest Gallup poll, which shows an 18-point spread between the Liberals and the Conservatives, a compared to a seven-point spread in 1965.

In Canada it is the number of parliamentary seats rather than the popular vote that counts.

Missile Plan Unproven, Say Senators

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate opponents of the so-called "thin" Sentinel antimissile defense program are renewing their attack on the system, charging it is unproven and costs too much money.

A $1.8 billion military construction bill before the Senate for action today includes $227.3 million for the system, designed as a defense against potential Red Chinese nuclear attack capabilities in the 1970s.

The construction bill, already passed by the House, was expected to get Senate approval before the day is out—after a vote on an amendment to cut the Sentinel funds.

Congress has not completed action on the military procurement bill and Atomic Energy Commission legislation which also includes Sentinel funds.

Some senior members of the Armed Services Committee have argued that the Sentinel is a necessary deterrent against a growing Chinese missile force.

These committee members have attacked arguments that the Sentinel is an untried weapon that might not work and that, in any case, offensive weapons can always be kept one step ahead of defensive ones.

"We may have one deployed that will not work," said Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, second-ranking Armed Services Democrat, during debate Friday, "but they will not know it will not work."

Our word "admiral" comes from the Arabian word for a commander.

The ministers met in the theater of the University of Iceland against a background of sporadic Communist-led demonstrations protesting the presence of American military bases in this windswept mid-Atlantic territory.

A protest march which began Sunday at the American air and naval base at Keflavik ended here around midnight with a demonstration outside the headquarters of Iceland's small but active Communist party.

New trouble flared in the capital early today when youths stoned the Communist party headquarters. Police moved in, and fights broke out. There were several arrests, but no reports of serious injuries.

Little Hope for Success in NATO Meet

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Statesmen of the North Atlantic Alliance met today in quest of an East-West pact cutting back arms and armies in Middle Europe but with slender hopes of early success.

Initial signals from Moscow suggested to top authorities here that the Russians, concerned with getting their Warsaw Pact allies back into line, at this time want no part in a program of military reductions.

Foreign ministers of NATO mean nevertheless to push ahead because their arms-cutting initiative has a parallel purpose: It is to insure that member-governments of their 15-nation partnership do not one-sidedly begin withdrawing their forces, or reducing their firepower, from mainland Europe.

This purpose is likely to be embodied in a resolution, or some other form of endorsement, by the foreign ministers. It will have the effect of helping governments like the United States, Belgium and Canada resist domestic pressures for withdrawal of troops.

Denise Darcel Charged With Shoplifting

By BOB M. CASSAWAY
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bosomy French actress Denise Darcel, with money in her purse and a show date waiting, was charged with shoplifting $35 worth of underwear Sunday. She called it "a bum rap."

Miss Darcel, who rose to film stardom in the late 1940s, was arrested outside a downtown Miami department store by a store detective who said "she had three shopping bags full of merchandise."

Later, in jail, Miss Darcel said, "They can't get away with treating me like a common criminal."

"She had already purchased several articles and paid for them," Police Lt. Paul Obay said. "And she was picking up other things she wanted. She claimed there was no sales lady at the time and she intended to pay for it later. She claims she went out to see if a bus was coming by. That's when she was arrested by the store detective."

Police said the goods — valued at $35.08 — in Miss Darcel's shopping bags included hose, slips, a comb and mirror, hairpins, a few pair of panties, a nightgown and one bra — size 40.

Miss Darcel, petite and trim at 43, had her blonde hair tucked under a scarf when jailed. She wore a blouse with fruit prints, slacks and large sunglasses. She posted $500 bond and was released from jail about three hours after her arrest. She must appear in Municipal Court next Friday on petty larceny charges.

The Paris-born actress came to Hollywood in 1947 to film "To the Victor." She followed with a success in "Battleground" opposite Van Johnson and the late John Hodiak.

Best of Baseball-Free

By JIM CROSSLEY

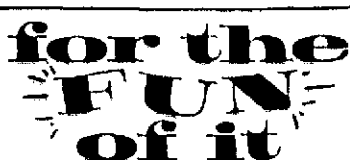

Where else is there the chance to see a baseball player lose a game and break into tears?

Drama... pathos... and much humor. On summer evenings, the most appealing set of players on the diamonds of our country put on the best baseball show to be seen anywhere.

It's free. It's in every neighborhood. Those involved have gotten into the habit of calling it all "Little League baseball," which meant agitate Williamsport, Pa., the location of the central headquarters of THE Little League Baseball, Inc.

A nonprofit organization—actually run at a deficit here recently—Little League Baseball, Inc., grants annual charters to more than 6,000 Little Leagues in 28 countries.

But, about as timid as dandelions, many additional boys' leagues have caught root. Some are under guidance of other national organizations, such as the National Baseball

Congress of America. Recreation departments in some communities have rigged up their own independent apparatuses. And not too infrequently, a group of dads just takes off in a town and puts together a homemade league.

Little League, Inc., sets the pace. In a spirit of helpfulness, the whole magnificent shebang, official and unofficial, has been nailed together to give boys a chance to play the national game. It is a necessity, no doubt, because of the way we have frozen out children in our crowded communities. (Don't get on the grass.)

Those with only a brushing acquaintance with Little League may have an unfriendly picture of it in their minds:

THE LIFE OF A LITTLE LEAGUER is like that of a major leaguer—in miniature, of course. Here, Ronald Richter, 11, of Conneville, Pa., coaches at third base. That finger is admonishing an opposing player; center, bubble gum blowing helps hold down tension; right, something has gone awry to put a tear in his eye.

A red-faced father bawling out a manager for not playing his boys... A wild-eyed mother screaming for a human sacrifice—the umpire... The manager out to win, even if it endangers his boys' health.

While these may be accurate in instances, none of them represent the true Little League movement. Actually, it follows the pattern of the way we do public-spirited things in America. That means it has all the strengths and weaknesses of our way.

The whole structure—and it's a big one with three of every 12 boys in the 9-12 age bracket playing, about 11 million soon—is erected around a framework of adult volunteers.

Anyone who has ever belonged to anything knows what that means. A few dads break their backs.

They arrange balanced teams based on tryouts. They raise the money for uniforms and equipment. They teach the kids the fundamentals. They see that they don't get hurt.

Oswald: "It is a classic principle of play that any time you give a player a chance to make a mistake he may do so."

Jim: "That is why a good declarer will try to confuse matters for the defense and a good defender will try to make things as easy as possible for his partner."

Oswald: "Of course, a player will false card when he is sure that his partner won't be fooled but declarer may be."

Jim: "Here is a rubber bridge hand which shows how a person can go wrong though he should not do so. The bidding was anchored to the fact that North and South had a part score of 60. Two diamonds was enough to give them game and rubber and East decided to give them one push, just in case his partner had some defense against diamonds."

Oswald: "I see that the push worked pretty well. It excited North and South to the extent that they got all the way to six diamonds. What happened then?"

Jim: "West opened the trey of clubs. East won with the ace and paused for some time to decide what to lead back. Finally, East came to the conclusion that his partner would have opened a spade if he had one. East led a spade and declarer had made an impossible slam."

Oswald: "This hand surely illustrates our point. East should have realized that the best chance to beat the contract would be to return a club. However, East did go wrong and West could have prevented the error."

Jim: "It takes a lot of courage to lead the king from a holding of king-seven-four-three, but West should have seen that he could not beat the hand with a club lead if it were going to matter whether he led the king or the trey."

THE WELL CHILD @ Prepare Your Child For Adolescence

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Adolescence is generally admitted to be a stormy time. It is characterized by rebellion against the authority of parents and of society, emotional confusion and a desire to experiment with new ideas which may include driving a gasoline-powered vehicle, the use of various drugs and/or some form of sexual stimulation. How well your child comes through this period will depend in part on how well you have prepared him for it and in part on how understanding you can bring yourself to be.

Every teen-ager is the product of what has gone on in his life since earliest childhood. No one is in a better position to know a child's background than a sympathetic parent who has kept the youngster's confidence by maintaining mutual respect. One of the greatest worries confronting the budding adolescent is his physical difference from the members of his own age group. It is estimated that about 5 per cent of pubescent boys have tenderness and/or enlargement of their breasts. A similar number of girls fall way behind their classmates in breast development or in the onset of their menstrual periods. Some boys are painfully short and some girls are painfully tall.

These variations in teen-agers who have no physical illness can cause them untold agony unless they can be persuaded that these differences fall within a normal range. In many cases, as adolescence progresses the variations fall more nearly into line with the general average but, even if they don't, they should be recognized for what they are. Often an examination by the family physician with neither parent present, followed by a large dose of reassurance, will give the youngster the perspective he needs and will relieve his groundless worries.

Poor City Is Cleaned Out, Leader Jailed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police armed with shotguns and tear gas moved through and took possession of the Poor People's Campaign Resurrection City today. At the Capitol, other police arrested the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, the campaign leader.

About 50 arrests were made at Resurrection City, where the residents had been told they could no longer stay on public land. Abernathy was arrested, peacefully, on charges of violating a law which forbids demonstrations on the Capitol grounds.

Police Chief John Layton said about 80 arrests were made at Resurrection City, where the residents had been told they could no longer stay on public land.

Abernathy was arrested, peacefully, with about 100 other campaigners, on charges of violating a prohibition against demonstrations on the Capitol grounds.

Despite the massive show of force—1500 police were on hand—there was no serious violence as police cleared the camp. As police with their shotguns and tear gas guns at the ready approached the gates of the camp the only sound was a man singing civil rights songs over the camp's public address system.

The police moved down in two lines checking each of the shanties and tents to see if any campers remained.

Halfway through the encampment they found a tent containing more than 50 demonstrators singing and clapping. This group submitted to arrest nonviolently and they were taken one by one to a waiting police bus.

William Rutherford, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which ran the Poor People's campaign, called the police operation orderly.

Two tear gas canisters did go off on the sweep down the camp. One apparently was part of the booby trap which went off when police ripped open a shanty door. Police fired the second one apparently assuming there was someone inside.

The arrest process at the tent took more than a half hour with the demonstrators including women and children singing such songs as "Do Right, White Man, Do Right."

Police packed the arrested persons into buses to haul them away for booking.

One of those removed in this fashion was Hosea Williams, a right hand man to Abernathy and leader of most protest demonstrations since the encampment was opened.

"There was only one case of brutality," Williams said, describing the tactics used by police, "where police hit a white youngster in the stomach and gave him a judo chop. Other than that there was pretty much what we expect of police."

"This is the beginning of something, not the end of something," Williams said through the barred window.

"We will make the entire Washington D.C. a Resurrection City. No longer will we be in mud-we'll be on good pavement. Instead of baloney and cheese sandwiches we'll have good hot meals and be sleeping real beds."

"In other words, we're in a better position to fight the Pharaohs than ever before."

The arrested demonstrators seemed in high spirits and almost relieved that Resurrection City had died so quietly.

They were joking and calling from the bus.

"They stole my bottle of scotch," said William Corbett of Norfolk Va. "I'm coming back. We're all coming back."

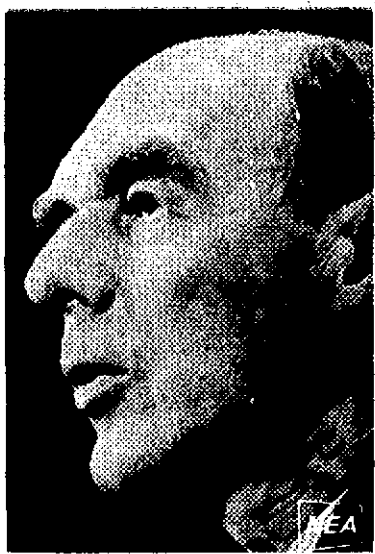

Abernathy said the campaigners left the meeting "with the same blank answers we have gotten here before." He said there was no alternative but to continue with plans for a march to Capitol Hill.

Abernathy said he asked the department again for free food stamps for people unable to pay for them.

Defiant demonstrators planned, too, a march on the Capitol.

"We are all going to jail," demonstration leader Hosea Williams promised a high-spirited, hand-clapping crowd at Resurrection City campsite Sunday night.

Questions Report of Hunger Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Accuracy and the source of a report that labeled four Arkansas counties as chronic hunger areas has been questioned by welfare and anti-poverty officials.

Officials in Mississippi, Stone, Lee and Crittenden counties said they were not contacted by the compilers of the report. Only Mississippi County officials were aware of a serious hunger threat, which they blamed on farm mechanization.

Crittenden and Lee counties, also in the heart of the Delta, reported the same situation in lesser degree.

Stone County, isolated in the Ozark foothills faces a different problem. Its people have lived off the land on small farms which can no longer produce enough to meet rising costs. It has no industry or commerce to turn to.

W. M. Graves, director of the Economic Opportunity's multi-service center at Blytheville, said approximately 500 persons—both rural and urban, Negro and white in Mississippi County

Some Men Take This Godfather Business With Much Seriousness

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—If I could have held her in my arms as I had done before, perhaps I would have been as smug as the smiling man I saw put the ring upon her finger.

The day just couldn't have been more perfect had the Lord wanted to improve the weather in heaven.

Skies were treasuries of bright blue, the sun brightened the spirits of everybody, and there was space in the church parking lot for all but the last 37 cars that showed up for the ceremony.

I felt so tremendously responsible. Was there a hymnal and a prayer book in every pew? The church looked so nice and new, as if Christ had just walked His freshness there.

There is a human glory in the waiting of the groom and the waiting of the bride, the waiting of the groom and the waiting of the bride, the waiting of the groom and the waiting of the bride.

As she strolled down the most wonderful street of her life arm in arm with her tall, dark handsome father, I thought to myself, "Well, they'll surely be calling on me next. There must be something for me to do."

But the next words I heard were the famous words of the preacher presenting the acceptance of alternates. "In sickness and in health..." in the union of going the way together.

"Who giveth this woman?" This woman? This growth of protoplasm whose bottom I'd pretended to spank when you could hold all of her person in WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal agency that backed a controversial experiment to rehabilitate a Chicago street gang denies charges that program money was used to buy guns and make the group into a powerful criminal organization.

The Office of Economic Opportunity says there is no proof for charges made by a former member of the gang, "Blackstone Rangers," that part of the $927,000 program was used to obtain sawed-off shotguns and rifles.

The OEO also said there is no truth to the accusations made before a Senate investigation subcommittee last week by George Rose, a former warlord of the Rangers, that the pastor of a South Side Chicago church knew the gang was storing weapons in the basement.

The Rev. John R. Fry, who Rose said also allowed the First Presbyterian church to be used for marijuana parties, issued his own denial Sunday and said he would seek a contempt of Congress citation against Rose.

The Rev. Fry was to testify before the subcommittee today. OEO Director Bertrand Harding, in a statement released Sunday, took to task those who he said accepted Rose's testimony at face value.

"The apparent eagerness of some to accept the uncorroborated statements of a Chicago hoodlum, who was never a participant in the program, raises either hand and lift her to the ceiling?

She stood there, framed in her usual portrayal—her fair hair, her eyes that mirrored the feeling of an occasion, a look of being wistfully eager to make you feel better.

Looking at her critically, I sensed, as probably most people do, the luminous fact that girls never look more lovely than they do when echoing the words of a minister as they stand steady by the man they're being wooed to.

"Who giveth this woman...?" the minister asked.

Responded in confident affirmation, the tall, dark, handsome father:

"Her mother and I!"

How about me? Nobody asked me. Nobody asks at a marriage how a fellow like me feels about the situation.

Yet at most marriages there's a fellow like me. He's the guy who stands around with a hurt look in his eyes and offers to pour you a drink—and then spills champagne in your lap.

He feels himself to be the silent hero of the occasion, the one who takes the major suffering, and gets the least recognition.

Who is this guy? He's the godfather of the bride, the silent heartache at the giving. Well, at least I had done my chief godfatherly duty. I had taken care of my goddaughter's moral welfare. I had married a girl named Nina Ann Palmer to a man named Bill Sweeney who loves her.

Red Training Site Smashed by Bombers

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Air Force B52 bombers today smashed a Viet Cong training center 13 miles from Saigon.

The B52s, have bombed closer to the capital only once. Last Feb. 13, at the height of the Viet Cong's Tet offensive on Saigon, they struck a suspected enemy troop concentration 10.5 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said ground observers in the training camp area southeast of the capital reported that secondary explosions lasted for six minutes after the eight-engine bombers left the site. A secondary explosion means ammunition or fuel going up after the 500- and 750-pound bombs have exploded.

In the last two weeks, the B52s have flown nearly 100 missions within a 75-mile radius of the capital, trying to cut infiltration corridors from the Cambodian border and prevent enemy troops from massing for a threatened attack on Saigon next month.

In five raids Sunday, the B52s aimed at enemy troop concentrations and infiltration routes

Prisoners in Ohio Hold Hostages

By PATRICK CORE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rioting inmates who armed themselves with ball bats and homemade knives set fire to eight buildings inside the century-old Ohio Penitentiary Monday morning. At least 20 persons were injured.

But by noon, four hours after the first fire broke out, officials said order was being restored in the prison. Many of the more than 300 convicts involved in the rioting were herded onto the prison's baseball diamond to be returned to cells.

The convicts also battled guards with scissors from the prison tailor shop and butcher knives from the kitchen.

Two hundred Ohio National Guardsmen were alerted at 8:30 a.m. and ordered to the prison at noon to prevent further disturbances. Six hundred other guardsmen were ordered to standby.

Officials estimated damage at well over $1 million from the eight fires.

One major fire temporarily trapped nearly 100 persons in the prison's hospital.

Maurice C. Koblenz, state corrections chief, said "there is a degree of control within the prison by various law enforcement units."

Legion Wants NRA to Move to Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A resolution urging the National Rifle Association to move its headquarters to Camp Robinson near North Little Rock was adopted Sunday by the Arkansas Department of the American Legion.

The resolution said the NRA was considering the invitation along with several others. The state department said that about 8,000 persons attend the national rifle matches each year at Camp Perry, Ohio, and that the NRA national headquarters employs about 400 persons.

Charles Holloway of Dumas, a rice and fish farmer, was elected commander of the department succeeding Bob Legan of Russellville.

Elected fire commanders were Joe T. Wynn of Star City, Dewey Waddle of Magnolia, Ben Burgess of Clarksville and Kern Steen of Newport. Ray Henry of Siloam Springs was re-elected historian and the Rev. George Fletcher of Grady was re-elected chaplain.

Fall Fatal to Worker

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A construction worker was killed Saturday when a ditch he fell into caved in. Tons of dirt fell on William Bates of Little Rock after he tumbled about 40 feet into the ditch here, officers said.

Officers were unsure whether Bates, in his mid 20s, was crushed to death or suffocated.

Candidates Differ on War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he hopes to talk to North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris this summer to learn prospects for a "settlement or accommodation" of the war. And Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has advocated an immediate cease-fire.

On the Republican side, California Gov. Ronald Reagan said Sunday it makes no sense to regard military victory in Vietnam as impossible but GOP presidential aspirant Nelson A. Rockefeller said the only way to an honorable peace is through negotiations.

McCarthy, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he hopes to talk to North Vietnamese representatives during a Paris trip in July or early August.

But McCarthy said he does not plan to participate in peace negotiations in Paris or to offer a proposal there on settling the war.

Humphrey said an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam would create a positive atmosphere at the Paris peace talks and end "fight and talk" tactics.

Humphrey, during an interview with editors of the New York Times, said he would be prepared to offer a cease-fire "any hour of the day" but said Hanoi has shown no such interest.

"But it may," he added. "I think we ought to keep pounding away at it."

McCarthy was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers." The Humphrey interview appeared in Sunday's editions of the New York Times.

The Gallup Poll, meanwhile, showed McCarthy now leading both the Republican contenders and Humphrey leading GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon but not Rockefeller.

The poll of registered voters showed McCarthy leading Nixon 41 per cent to 39 and Rockefeller 39 per cent to 38. It showed Humphrey leading Nixon 42 per cent to 37 but trailing Rockefeller 39 per cent to 38.

Reagan, a GOP favorite son who says he is not a presidential candidate, criticized the Johnson administration for publicly ruling out use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam.

Candidates Invited to Washington

State, county and district candidates have been invited to speak at Washington, Arkansas, on the afternoon of July 4th, and a large crowd is expected to hear them.

Local candidates without opposition will take turns at presiding and will introduce those with opposition. Harry Hawthorne, Hempstead County Treasurer, will be in charge of arrangements for the political speaking.

The July 4th celebration at Washington is the major Independence day event in Southwest Arkansas this year. The Pioneer Washington Restoration Foundation will hold open house and events of interest will begin at 10:00 a.m., that morning and last throughout the day. Those attending are urged to bring picnic lunches. Tables will be provided under the shade trees on the Tavern lawn, and soft drinks will be on sale there.

Hostesses will be on duty at all the historic points of interest, and those wishing to tour the gun museum, black smith shop, restored homes, and other places, may do so for a small fee.

Mrs. Charles A. Haynes, Executive Director of the Foundation is the general chairman for the Independence day celebration.

Soccer Game Stampedede Leaves 71 Persons Dead in Argentine Stadium

By LOUIS UCHITELLE
Associated Press Writer
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Ignoring a loudspeaker warning that a gate was closed, hundreds of soccer fans stampeded as they tried to leave Argentina's largest stadium Sunday and trampled 71 persons to death.

Police said 83 persons were injured, many of them seriously. Most of the dead and injured were men.

It was Argentina's worst sports disaster and recalled the worst such in the history of sports, a stampede at a soccer match in Lima, Peru, in 1964 in which 328 persons were killed.

The Argentine tragedy occurred just at sundown on a chilly winter afternoon at Gate 12, one of the 24 entrance-exit gates around the Estadio Monumental, the 90,000 seat home of the River Plate Soccer Club.

The stadium was full for the match between River Plate and Boca Juniors, which ended in a scoreless tie. As the crowd began to leave a jam developed at Gate 12, because the one-way entrance turnstiles had not been removed there. Stadium officials said the fans were warned by loudspeaker not to leave by the turnstiles in their panic.

Most were Boca Juniors fans from the cheapest seats in the stadium. When the panic ended, the dead and injured were sprawled on the concrete staircases and ramp leading to the gate. Within a few minutes, dozens of ambulances rushed to the stadium.

Jose Maria Pereyra, 32, was jammed against the turnstiles and knocked unconscious. Revived on the playing field, he told a newsmen:

"The loudspeakers said not to use the gate, but everyone ignored the warning. I was caught in the crowd and carried toward the gate. I saw the crush coming but I couldn't do anything about it."

"When the first persons fell," said Hugo Paez, "those coming behind found themselves trapped between the people on the floor and the rest of the crowd pushing from behind."

"The pressure of the crowd was tremendous and pushed people over those who had fallen first. More persons fell to the ground as the confusion and the panic mounted. I found myself pushed off the ground by the crowd, and I landed outside the stadium without injury."

The police reported that many of the victims were suffocated. The owners of the Boca Juniors said the club would pay for funeral and medical expenses since most of the victims were Boca fans.

DeGaulle's Forces Win a Majority

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's forces appeared headed today for an overwhelming majority in the French National Assembly after strong gains in the first round of the national elections.

Left-wing extremists warned that "the battle has only begun" as preparations began for the runoff elections next Sunday.

Frightened by the May weeks of student violence and nationwide strikes, the French people headed De Gaulle's theme of "Gaullism or Communism" and elected 142 of his followers Sunday.

Gaullist candidates also were in favorable positions for the runoff elections in 150 other districts, indicating that the president and Premier Georges Pompidou might win a majority of more than 100 in the 487-seat assembly.

In the last assembly the Gaullists and their allies had a majority of only one.

It was an unexpected triumph for the 77-year-old general who less than a month ago threatened to resign at the height of the national convulsion.

It was also a stinging defeat for De Gaulle's opponents of the center and left. Only 12 non-Gaullists were elected in the first round in Metropolitan France—6 Communists, 4 Centrists and two members of rightist parties. And in comparison with the vote in the first round of the 1967 general election, the Communists' percentage of the total vote dropped from 22.51 per cent to 20.03, the non-Communist Leftist Federation slipped from 18.96 to 16.50 and the Centrist Party of Modern Progress and Democracy declined from 12.34 to 10.64.

Despite the Gaullists' initial triumph at the polls, most of the problems that set off France's "mad month of May" remain unsolved, and the wholesale wage raises handed out to get 10-million striking workers back to their jobs will almost certainly bring widespread inflation.

Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, a left-wing leader who was in trouble in the Grenoble district, warned the government that it probably would have trouble with "those who voted for it but who for all that are not ready to give up their demands."

Mrs. Rounton Is Named by Republicans

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sixteen persons were named by the state Republican party Saturday to be among its 36-member delegation to the GOP National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla., later this summer.

Ten more delegates and 10 alternates will be elected June 29 at a meeting of the state GOP Committee. Those elected do not officially become delegates or alternates until approved by the committee, but acceptance generally is routine.

Elected by congressional districts Saturday were:

1st District—delegates Harlan "Bo" Holleman of Wynne and Dr. Rece Phillips of Forrest City. Alternates were Dr. Milton Lubin of Turrell and A. C. Sisk Jr. of Marianna.

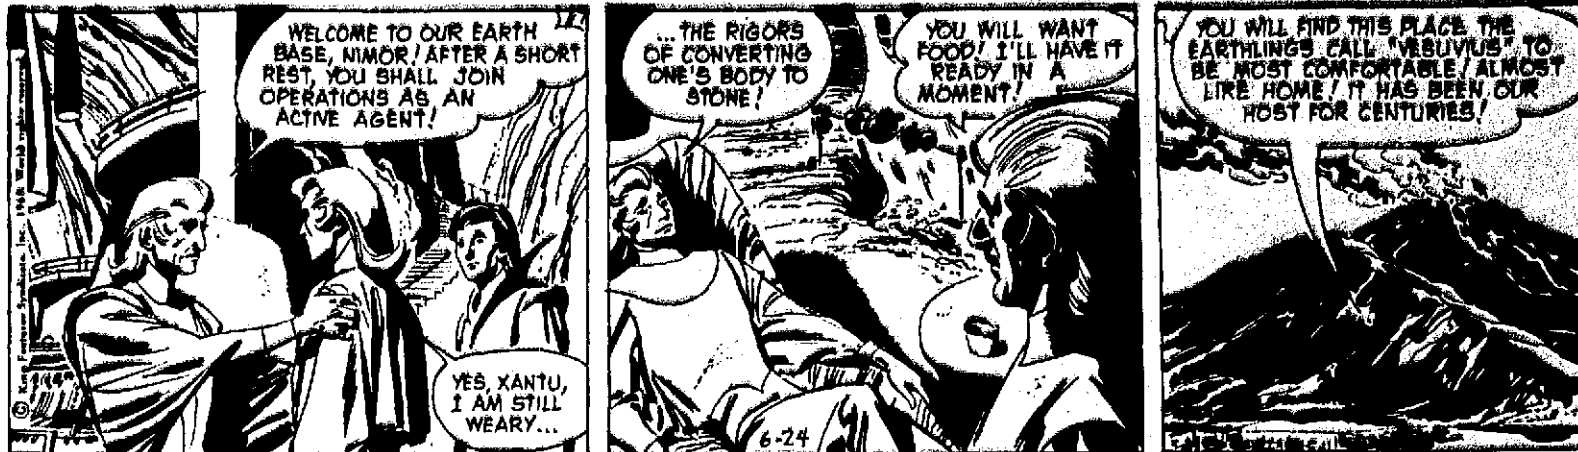

2nd District—delegates Everett A. Hamm Jr. of North Little Rock and the Rev. M. L. Hendricks of Little Rock. Alternates were Mrs. He en Waldrup of Batesville and Mrs. Jay Cobb of North Little Rock.

3rd District—delegates J. C. "Jake" Patterson of Lavaca and Cass Hough of Rogers. Alternates were Mrs. T. A. Field III of Fort Smith and Mrs. Bill Rounton of Hope.

Mission: Get the Big Jobs Done

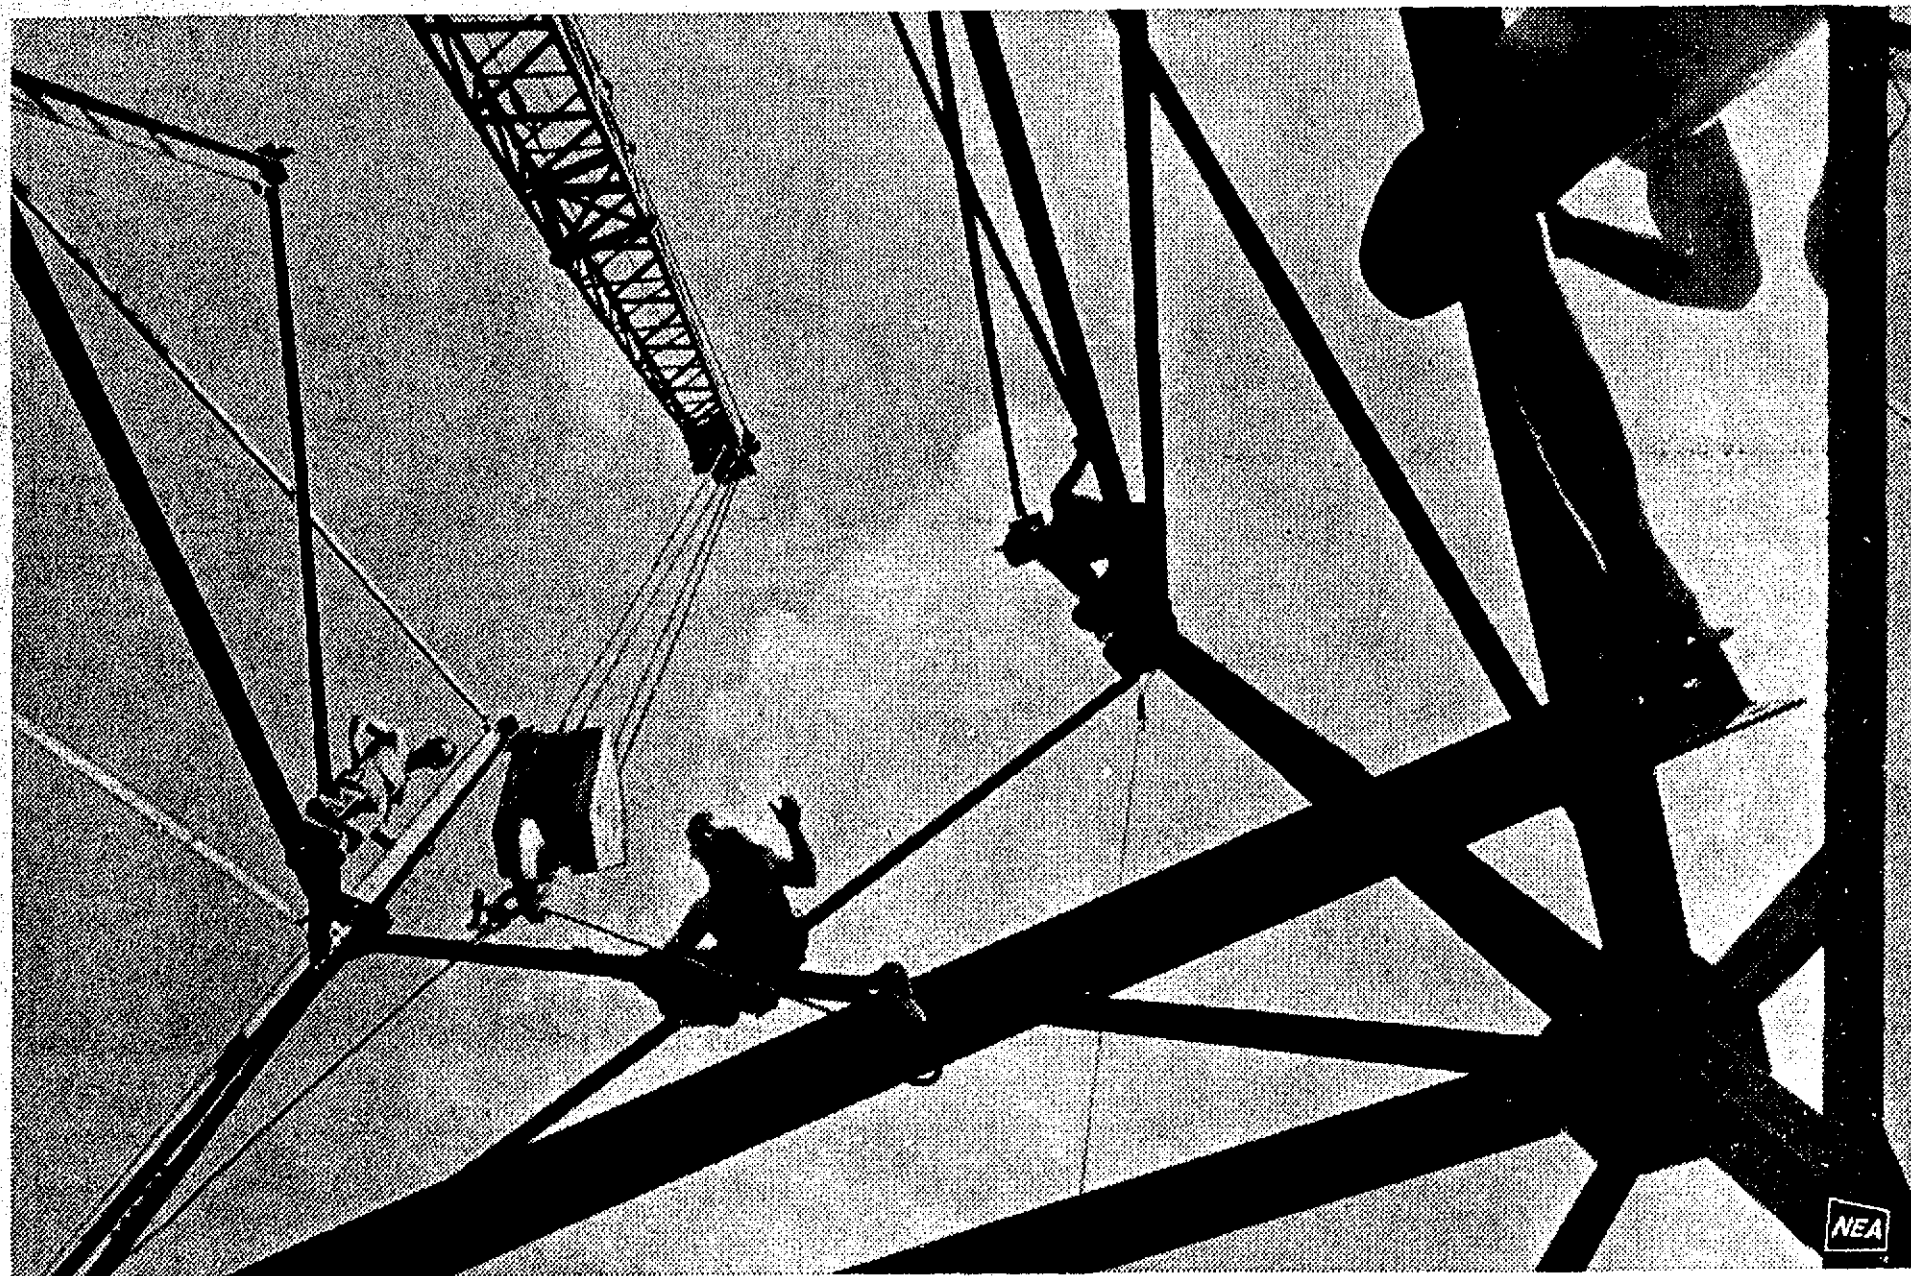

MEN of the 35th Engineer Group peer down into the empty belly of a fuel storage tank being constructed near Dong Tam in the Mekong Delta. When finished, tank will hold 3,055 gallons.

The job of an Army engineer is hard, sweaty and unglamorous, but a modern army could not exist without its engineers. Last year, U.S. Army engineers in Vietnam cleared more than 100,000 acres of jungle and moved 20 million tons of rocks and soil. They poured 277,000 cubic yards of concrete, enough to pave 46 miles of super-highway. They laid 156 miles of fuel pipelines and built four miles of tactical bridges. They erected enough billets and warehouses to equal a 673-story skyscraper with a 150-by-100-foot base. The statistics which describe the achievements of engineers in Vietnam are almost beyond the understanding of laymen, no matter what comparisons we make, but the accomplishments are unmistakable to anyone who has soldiered in the war-torn country. These photos highlight the builders.

Vice Mayor of West Memphis Dies at 69

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—Oliver I. Bollinger, the vice mayor of West Memphis, died of a heart attack at his home Sunday night. He was 69.

Bollinger, who resigned as secretary of Southland Racing Corp. last month in the wake of an upheaval over control of the corporation, had served as vice mayor since March, 1967, shortly after the 1967 General Assembly passed a bill providing for such a position.

Bollinger had served as a city councilman for 33 consecutive years, longer than any alderman in the state.

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper. WHERE DO WILD STYLES, BAD HABITS COME FROM?

Dear Helen: I've seen many letters in your column lately about heavy drinkers, chain smokers, women whose bad habits are out of control.

Have you ever stopped to think that most of these things that society accepts nowadays started in the slums, among prostitutes and such.

Take, for example, cigarette-smoking. Fifty years ago, no respectable American woman would dare light up, nor would she dare drink in public. In fact, if she made up her face, she was considered "fallen."

Her dresses first went short about the time the French adagio dancer started throwing miniskirted females across the floor. And take marijuana. Thugs and their dames smoked it years before it became the "campus drug."

You might even say that the slums always practiced their private sex revolution, but not until the sixties did you hear about middle class "orgies."

And how about hippie beads and long hair, now quite accepted for men's fashions?

It would seem that the bad or harmful habits filter up, as do the wild styles. At first we're repelled by them. Then a few exhibitionists — often actors or actresses who need publicity — give them a go, and suddenly they're "in" with high society, then with ordinary people.

The latest slum kick is rioting. College students have now taken it up. What will be next? Maybe if we'd stop and realize where our excesses came from we wouldn't be so quick to glamorize them. — PHIL

Dear Phil: Interesting thought. It's true, the uninhibited start new trends, styles, thoughts which the great inhibited middle class secretly yearns for and finally tries. But not all new trends are "excesses" nor do they all come from the slums . . . And let's hope the good filters down faster than the harmful filters up, so that some day we'll have no more slums. — H.

Dear Helen: My kid came home from the school playground and said he was invited to a free camp in the mountains for a week. That's just a bunch of politics, to get us poor people to vote for the big man that gets our kids "out of the hot city." They come home with poison ivy and scratches, and maybe a lot of germs picked up from other brats. Last year a boy and girl at this "wonderful" summer camp were even caught holding hands!

I don't believe in taking kids away from their parents. Why don't the politicians mind their own business? If they want to do something for us poor people, they can give us the money it costs to put our boy in camp! — AGAINST TRICKY HANDOUTS

Dear Against: Why don't you stop seeing a bad guy under every white hat, and let your son have his week in the mountains? You might even try a little appreciation, for whether you realize it or not, much of the summer recreation program in your city is carried on by volunteers—without pay! — H.

Dear Helen: We were at a night club the other evening where a woman got very high and started shedding her clothes. Everyone just snickered, a few stared, some turned away, and the management brought a blanket. It was funny, nothing more.

Yet if a man did the same thing — wow! He'd be up on an indecent exposure charge before he could turn around! And the reputation of "sex maniac" would follow him the rest of his life. Isn't this unfair? — HOW COME?

Dear H.C.: Seems so. This is the reverse double standard, and I guess you men will just have to grin and take it. — H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The winter Smothers Brothers show serves up humor with some musical interludes. The summer Smothers Brothers show is music with humor. It is a switch of emphasis.

In cold weather, it was the jokes, the sketches and the topical humor that were the important elements. That is pretty much pushed into the background in the funfuf CBS hour that had its premiere Sunday night.

Glen Campbell, an attractive young singer, has taken over the show for the summer, and in his first assignment as star proved to be interesting musically and to have a quiet but effective style all his own.

He was backed up by most of the winter regulars—the dancers, the musical organization and comedian Pat Paulsen. Nancy Sinatra was the guest star. The Smothers Brothers turned up, too, to get the show off to a good start.

Like NBC's summer replacement for Dean Martin's hour, the program is aimed primarily at the young audience.

Co-produced by Tommy Smothers, the show was a commonplace 60 minutes that will not make TV history. But then, summer shows almost never do.

It will be interesting to see if the Smothers Brothers and their staff go ahead with their elaborate plans to satirize, through Pat Paulsen's parody, the current political campaigns. When it started months ago, Paulsen's portrait of a double-talking cliché-bound presidential hopeful was highly amusing. Then, in the course of events, the world business of running for president abruptly lost most of its humorous content.

Each season there are a certain number of replacements and additions to casts of established programs. Actors leave and producers feel that the series could stand some fresh faces.

There will be an unusually large number of additions next season, however, and an extraordinarily high percentage of them will be Negroes.

Programs adding Negro performers are comedy series like "The Flying Nun" and "Gomer Pyle" to the action shows like "Mannix" who will have a new secretary with a young son.

A Negro neurosurgeon will arrive in "Peyton Place." Later on, the evening soap opera will develop plot lines involving the doctor and his family. Percé Rodriguez, a Canadian actor with wide stage and screen experience, will play the role.

Current Differences

Alternating current changes its direction of flow from 120 times a second, in the case of most house current, to billions of times in the case of radar. Direct current flows in one direction only.

State Representative Talbot Feild, Jr. of Hempstead County has just been handed the gavel by Senator Clarence E. Bell after Feild had been chosen Chairman of the Legislative Audit Council by other members. He succeeds Marion Crank who resigned because he is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. Rains Wash Away Threat of Shortage

By TENRIETTA LEITH Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The heavy rains of May and June have washed away the threat of another Northeast water shortage and filled reservoirs to overflowing or near capacity.

The blessings of the late spring rains, after an abnormally dry April that made water officials uneasy, were cited by officials all over the area.

In Washington, government hydrologists said the rains had produced record and near-record stream flows in Ohio, New Jersey and New York and reversed a downward trend in water supply.

And although a Weather Bureau spokesman in Boston described New England's spring rains as generally not heavy, he said their frequency had left the area with sufficient water.

Water officials throughout the Northeast still have bad dreams about the five-year drought of 1961 to 1966 when New York City's water supply dropped to less than 25 per cent of its reservoirs' capacities.

This week, New York's water supply was more than 100 per cent of capacity. This measurement is possible because the capacity is measured up to the spillways of the reservoirs and there is some water storage above that line at certain points.

Boston's Quabbin Reservoir, which has a capacity of 412 billion gallons, was listed June 1 as being 48 per cent full, compared with 56.1 per cent in August of last year. But the reservoir level was at 506.99 feet on June 18, enough, according to a water official, to last four to five years without another drop of rain.

Start with the finest car made in America and stay with it.

An excellent formula for car buying as well as car building. One of the many satisfactions inherent in Lincoln Continental ownership is the owner's knowledge that he has made an investment of lasting value. This satisfaction has become inherent because Continental designers and engineers are constantly striving for perfection. Each year, they start with the finest car made in America: they refine it, improve it, give it over 2000 manufacturing checks, then test it again, until it's a perfectionist's delight.

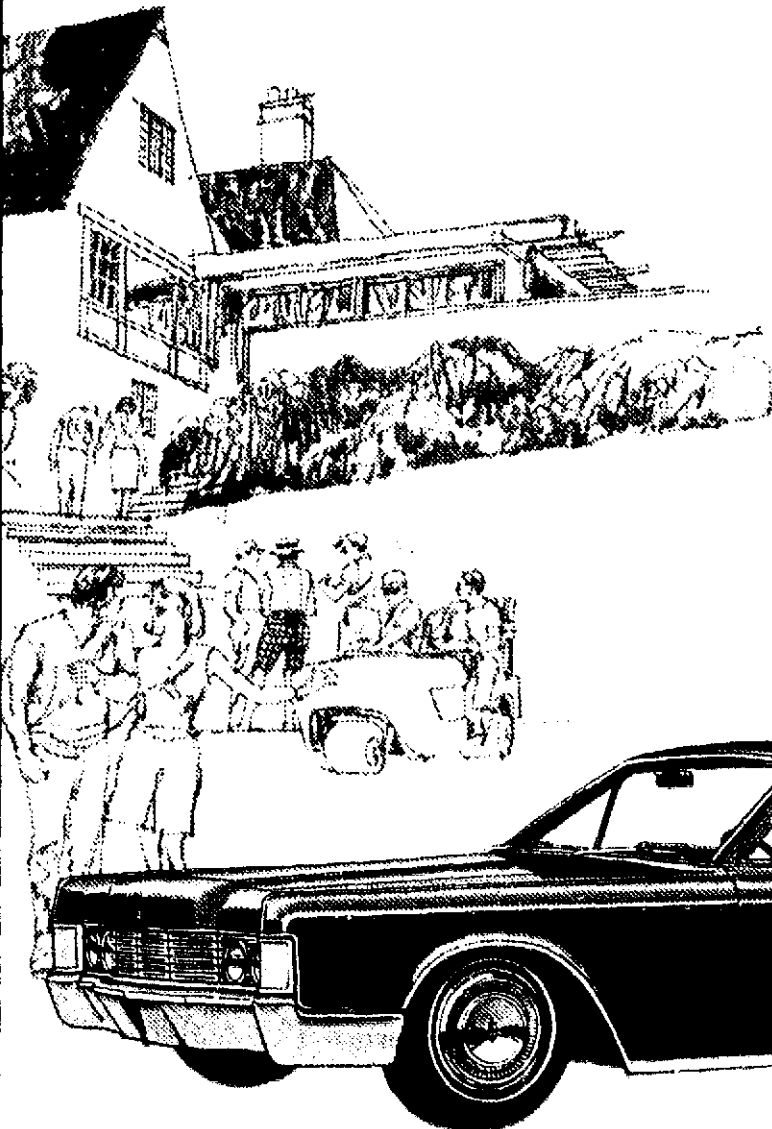

This year's Sedan and Coupé follow in the Continental tradition. No change has been made for the sake of change. The classic Continental look continues, but with such styling refinements as wraparound parking lights and taillights, a smoother shifting transmission and a new, more formal roof line for the Coupé.

Continental interiors are new for 1968, including an all-new instrument panel, and reflect the careful attention to detail that will earn the admiration and respect of the most discerning luxury car buyer. Everywhere, you detect the craftsman's touch. It comes as no surprise that Continental has served as the fine-car standard for many years.

Let us arrange a personal demonstration for you, during which you may become acquainted with the lasting pleasure and prestige awaiting you in the 1968 Lincoln Continental Sedan or Coupé.

Wallace Role Increasingly Significant

By DON MCKEER
Associated Press Writer

George C. Wallace's barnstorming across the South to the cheers of zealous supporters indicates his increasingly significant role in the presidential election.

"We are not running to throw it into the House of Representatives," he told crowds on his Southern fund-raising tour last week. "We are running to win."

But at this stage, even those governors supporting or leaning toward Wallace are not making all-out predictions of victory.

Gov. Albert Brewer of Alabama is supporting the third-party candidate and says: "I think he has an excellent chance of winning."

Brewer predicted Wallace would carry Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia "of a certainty." And he said Wallace has an excellent chance of taking Texas, Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Virginia.

Even though Brewer is partisan, behind the scenes there were other governors who agreed Wallace might carry from 5 to 10 states or more.

Gov. John Connally of Texas told newsmen at the Southern Governors' Conference recently that both major party candidates should "run scared of George Wallace."

Former Georgia Gov. Carl E. Sanders said Wallace would sweep the South unless the Democratic organizations get busy.

"If," said Sanders, "the state and national party keeps sitting around while he gains momentum, then it is going to be too late."

Both Connally and Sanders alluded to the law-and-order issue which Wallace has hammered in his speeches. This has a strong appeal among voters, Sanders said, and the Democratic candidates ought to talk about it.

Wallace has already won positions on the ballot in more than one-half the states. All indications are that he will be on the ballot in most states by November.

He tells listeners how he made the ballot in California by getting 107,263 voters to re-register as members of his American Independent party—when only 66,000 were needed. He also points to the turnout of thousands for his party's county conventions in Texas.

It might be in his plans to work hard at winning the plurality in the big states like California and Texas. He reminds interviewers that California will have at least four different presidential candidates on the ballot.

The former Alabama governor does not talk about segregation and he repeatedly says he is not a racist. But he speaks out against federal guidelines, including those on school integration, and he is against the open housing law.

W. V. RUTHERFORD

Specialist 5 Will V. Rutherford, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Will V. Rutherford, has returned from a tour of active duty in Vietnam. He enlisted in the United States Army in 1966 and was assigned to the Medical Battalion receiving training at Fort Bragg, North Carolina; Fort Sam Houston, Texas; and Fort Ord, California. In May, 1967, he was assigned to duty in Vietnam with the 173rd Airborne Brigade as a medic.

Specialist Rutherford was wounded twice while in Vietnam. For this, he was awarded a Purple Heart and the Oak Leaf Cluster. He also received an Army Commendation Medal with "V" Device while serving as a medic with Company C, 4th Battalion (Airborne) 503rd Infantry in the Republic of Vietnam.

He is a graduate of Yerger High School in the class of 1961. He attended Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama, for four years and was a member of the ROTC.

Specialist Rutherford will report to Fort Bragg, North Carolina to continue in service until February at which time he hopes to receive his discharge and return to school to complete his education.

Lloyds Deny Fulbright on Retainer

LONDON (AP) — A spokesman for Lloyds of London today labeled as "poppycock" a charge that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., was on a $150,000 retainer with the insurance company.

Bobby K. Hayes, a Democratic candidate for the seat held by Fulbright, charged Saturday that Fulbright opposed the bombing of Haiphong harbor because the senator was on a retainer with Lloyds.

Lloyds insures some ships that use the harbor.

Leobouf Lamb, chief United States representative for the firm, said of Hayes accusation, "No, that's poppycock. I never heard of such a thing."

Fulbright took the comment lightly.

"When you are an unknown candidate, you have to make comments like this—it was foolish," Fulbright said.

Fulbright issued his reply Sunday as he kicked off his campaign for re-election with a reception at the Hotel Marion in Little Rock.

Fulbright spent most of the afternoon shaking hands with the several hundred persons who visited his headquarters.

Meany Cites Discrimination in Labor

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Racial discrimination remains a major barrier to Negroes hunting jobs, and labor unions haven't done all they can to eliminate prejudice within their own ranks, the AFL-CIO said today.

But "this is not a time to give up, it is a time to fight harder" for equality, said George Meany, president of the 13.5 million-member labor federation.

Meany, in reports to a civil rights organization and the AFL-CIO magazine, The Federationist, said high unemployment or deadend jobs for Negroes are a major cause of the nation's social disorder.

Meany's message to the convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Atlantic City, N.J., also said that Negro gains in education, housing and other areas have been "laggard everywhere."

The delay in making Negro equality a reality is disheartening "but to be disheartened is not to be a defeatist," Meany said.

"Of course the progress of school integration has been disgracefully slow. Of course the evils of slum housing remain, and the twin escape hatches that have been opened this year—open housing in principle and more housing in fact—are narrowed by the weight of prejudice. Of course the goal of equal employment opportunity has been tarnished by those who seek to frustrate it," Meany said.

"Shall we for these reasons despair of America? We say no. We say that the answer is not to burn but to build," he said.

The Federationist report said that despite improvement through federal and private programs, Negro unemployment rates still indicate widespread discrimination in employment.

"Law or no law, it is simply impossible to look at the employment experience of Negroes—at the amount of unemployment and underemployment, and at the occupations in which they are employed and the income they earn—without concluding that, even after allowance is made for all other factors, one of the major problems is that equal opportunity is more often a policy than a practice," it said.

Latest government figures show the jobless rate of Negroes down to 6.4 per cent, lowest on record, but still double the rate for white workers.

Negroes at Denver Plan Mass Meet

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Members of Denver's Negro community decided Sunday to hold a mass meeting and parade through downtown Denver streets Tuesday afternoon to call attention to grievances and make demands to city officials.

The decision, after an uneasy weekend in some areas of the city following the shooting early Saturday of a policeman and a Negro youth, was announced by State Sen. George Brown, D-Denver, the first Negro elected to the Colorado Legislature.

Brown urged all of Denver's estimated 40,000 Negroes to attend the meeting and walk in the parade which will start and end in front of the Denver city and county building and will pass by police headquarters.

Brown said the Negroes would "answer indictments and insinuations against the black community," explain "what really causes riotous situations" and present "a series of important demands" to city officials.

A policeman and a Negro youth allegedly exchanged gunshots early Saturday morning. The youth was seriously wounded, and police had to use tear gas to break up crowds of mostly young Negroes who were breaking window and looting in two areas of the city.

The past two nights were relatively quiet after Mayor Tom Curran and Gov. John Love went on radio and television Saturday night to appeal for calm.

Brush Fires Burn Acres in California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's first major brush fires of the year raged on today after ravaging thousands of acres of tinder-dry park land.

A blaze in Angeles National Forest, a watershed area 40 miles north of Los Angeles, has burned more than 40,000 acres in the Liebre Mountain area since Friday.

It was reported 80 per cent contained, fire officials said.

A second blaze about 16 miles east, in the huge forest's Bouquet Canyon section, charred more than 3,500 acres before it was brought under control late Sunday.

A 3,000-acre fire in central California's Los Padres National Forest, 60 miles north of San Luis Obispo near the California coast, was about 90 per cent contained.

Winds exceeding 45-miles-an-hour whipped the Liebre Mountain fire eastward Sunday but subsidized in today's predawn hours. More than 1,500 firemen, including men from the U.S. Forest Service, Los Angeles County Fire Department, California Division of Forestry and about 150 Arizona Indians, battled the inferno.

Five fire fighters were injured Friday, one critically.

No communities were threatened, authorities said. Trucks, bulldozers, helicopters and planes, which dropped tons of chemical retardants were mobilized to prevent the flames from spreading to more of the valuable watershed lands.
